

My PhD: Spring 2018

A career development series for STEM PhD students

Speaker: Dr. Mary Beth Adams, USDA
Forest Service Research Scientist

“Careers in the Federal Government”

Join us for a discussion with Dr. Mary Beth Adams about PhD career paths in the federal government and how you can prepare for a government agency career.
Discussion followed by Q&A.

Thursday March 1st, 2018
11:00am – 12:00pm
A219B Langley Hall
Light refreshments provided

Dr. Mary Beth Adams is a research soil scientist for the USDA Forest Service in the research and development (R&D) division. Her research focuses on nutrient cycling in forests affected by different management and disturbance regimes. She conducts long term experiments and particularly enjoys working collaboratively in cross-site studies with other scientists within the Forest Service as well as universities and other agencies.